Re: Follow Up to letter this morning

Dear WTPS Staff and Families.

I realize that my letter was vague this morning. I was anxious to get information out as we were receiving countless emails regarding the social media post, so I wanted to put minds at ease.

I am attaching the image that has been being shared on social media since last Friday. The police are investigating, but to date we do not know where it came from, or if it is even about our schools. It is a very general threat with little information to go on. However, the police are still looking into it and we will share information should any develop.

Here is the post that is being investigated. I want to share this so if it continues to circulate you will know that this is the one, we are dealing with already.

Sincerely,

Mr. Joseph Bollendorf, Superintendent
