Course Title:	English 12
----------------------	-------------------

Grade Level(s):	12
------------------------	-----------

Duration:	Full Year:	X	Semester:		Marking Period:
Course Description:	Honors English 12 is an intense, progressive course for the self-motivated student who displays a high aptitude in English. Students are expected to read extensively, write coherently, discuss, argue, and evaluate established ideas and common beliefs on a variety of subjects. Extensive independent work, including reading assigned/independent texts and preparing for class discussions will be a major component of Honors English 12. The course incorporates a survey of British/World literature, supplementary novels and plays, assorted non-fiction works of various time periods and cultures, and an examination of other disciplines and multimedia. Students will be expected to compose analytical essays and a research paper. *Honors English 12 is designed to be rigorous in terms of pacing and expectations and requires considerable independent, out-of- class preparation for class activities. College Prep English 12 is designed to reinforce the necessary analytical, communicative, and writing skills that are required for students to fully participate, interact, and succeed in their college and career experiences. This course allows students to improve and master skills which emphasize critical thinking, analysis, interpretation, and evaluation. Students are expected to fully participate in class discussions and are responsible for assigned and independent reading, research, and writing outside of the classroom. Vocabulary as well as a review of language usage and proper grammar/writing skills is also addressed. Students will compose a variety of writing assignments, including essays, research papers, and narrative pieces. Resource English 12 is designed to offer support to students with special needs so that they can continue to strengthen reading and writing skills with assistance. Teachers use differentiated instruction and modified curriculum along with information from IEPs in order to develop an intense instructional plan. Students are expected to participate in a variety of ways (discussion, independent reading, research, and writing). Students will compose a variety of writings to demonstrate understanding of concepts.

Launch Unit

Writing Focus: Modes of Writing, Revision

The mission of the Washington Township Public Schools is to provide a safe, positive, and progressive educational environment that provides opportunity for all students to attain the knowledge and skills specified in the NJ Learning Standards at all grade levels, so as to ensure their full participation in an ever-changing world as responsible, self-directed and civic-minded citizens.

Unit Description: Effective writers and perceptive readers establish habits for reading, writing, revision, and collaboration. This unit introduces students to the various assignments, technology platforms, and the behavioral norms of English 12, thereby establishing clear expectations and enabling students to form necessary habits.

Unit Duration: 2-3 Weeks (approximate)

Desired Results

Standard(s): This curriculum follows the New Jersey Student Learning Standards for English Language Arts, Grades 11-12.

	Power Standards	Secondary Standards
Writing	W 12.6
Speaking and Listening	SL 12.1; SL 12.2
Language	L.11-12.1

Learning Targets:

Students will use technology, including the Internet, to produce, share, and update individual or shared writing products, taking advantage of technology's capacity to link to other information and to display information flexibly and dynamically.

Students will initiate and participate effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with peers on grades 11-12 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.

Students will integrate multiple sources of information presented in diverse media or formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively, qualitatively, orally) evaluating the credibility and accuracy of each source.

Students will demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking. This will include punctuation, capitalization and spelling.

Enduring Understandings:

Students will understand...

- ...how to communicate effectively across technology platforms.
- ...how to collaborate on writing, discussion, and other class-based activities in a hybrid or remote format.
- ...how to meet the expectations of English 12.

Essential Questions:

- How do I communicate effectively to my teachers and my peers?
- How do I collaborate on work across the various platforms we use in English 12?

Assessment Evidence

Performance Task:

Analytical Writing Pre-Assessment
Grammar Pre/Post Assessment

Other Evidence:

Supportive Assignments

The mission of the Washington Township Public Schools is to provide a safe, positive, and progressive educational environment that provides opportunity for all students to attain the knowledge and skills specified in the NJ Learning Standards at all grade levels, so as to ensure their full participation in an ever-changing world as responsible, self-directed and civic-minded citizens.

Benchmarks:

Student portfolios will be used as a measure of progress towards mastery of grade-level standards. Portfolios can include summative writing assignment, short-answer analyses, journal entries, etc.

STAR Reading will also be administered during the launch unit as a baseline measure of grade level proficiency.

Learning Plan

Learning Activities:

(The following are suggested activities in support of unit learning targets. Other activities in support of unit learning targets are possible.)

- Unit of Introduction: Essential Questions, Skills and Standards
 - Sample Activity: Present the Schoology FAQ and have students conduct a scavenger hunt for information found on the class Schoology Page.
 - Sample Activity: Present guidelines and conduct facilitated discussion (or video conference) using Digital Etiquette.
- Writing
 - Sample Activity: Conduct assessment and revise based on comments using Analytical Writing Pre-Assessment.
 - Sample Activity: Review conventions and have students send a sample email using How to Write an Email.
- Sample Skill Mini-Lesson: Compose a sample email to the principal, peer-edit another student's email, revise based on comments.
- Sample Introductory Mini-Lesson: Compose a "Get to Know Me" video modelled after teacher submission offering favorite Independent Reading texts, interests, lessons learned from previous year and hopes for this academic year.

Sample Clarity Statements (What? Why? How?)
(Posted Daily)

The mission of the Washington Township Public Schools is to provide a safe, positive, and progressive educational environment that provides opportunity for all students to attain the knowledge and skills specified in the NJ Learning Standards at all grade levels, so as to ensure their full participation in an ever-changing world as responsible, self-directed and civic-minded citizens.

What? Communicating effectively in different contexts (e.g., in-person versus email).

Why? One, to demonstrate and encourage respect from others. Two, each mode of communication – email, text, in-person conference – has different requirements to be effective, and effective communication is the only way to be heard and understood.

How? Practice composing an email, collaborating on a document, and revising your writing.

What? Collaborating with your peers (and your teacher) on a piece of writing.

Why? Others can see things in our writing that we often miss. By collaborating, we improve our writing more than if we work alone.

How? Creating, sharing, and commenting on a Microsoft Word Document using OneDrive.

Unit Modifications for Special Population Students

Advanced Learners	Greater complexity in writing tasks, extra help provided only upon request.
Struggling Learners	Small group instruction, error correction, extra time to complete assignments, restate/repeat/rephrase, preview material/vocabulary, modification of material, IEP/504/IRT requirements, additional teacher assistance.
English Language Learners	Sheltered English Instruction, additional teacher assistance.
Special Needs Learners	Behavioral management plan, assistive technology, large print, printed notes, additional time for assignments, small group instruction, IEP/504/IRT requirements, additional teacher assistance

Interdisciplinary Connections

Indicators:

Accurately cite strong and thorough textual evidence, to support analysis of primary and secondary sources, attending to such features as the date and origin of the information.

Integrate quantitative or technical analysis (e.g., charts, research data) with qualitative analysis in print or digital text, to analyze information presented via different mediums.

Accurately cite strong and thorough evidence from the text to support analysis of science and technical texts, attending to precise details for explanations or descriptions.

Gather relevant information from multiple authoritative print and digital sources, using advanced searches effectively; assess the usefulness of each source in answering the research question; integrate information into the text selectively to maintain the flow of ideas, avoiding plagiarism and following a standard format for citation.

Integration of 21st Century Skills

Unit Title: Journey and Transformations

Mode of Writing: Expository and/or Narrative, Literary Analysis

Unit Description:

As students enter their last year of high school, they will be given the opportunity to answer the questions: What does it mean to be transformed and how has your journey shaped you into who you are? Students will study education from the Industrial Revolution to present day. They will examine, analyze, evaluate, demonstrate understanding of, and reflect on core texts, poems, and excerpts and will study the changes and trends and how race, socioeconomics, religion, etc. influence education. Students will then study The Hero's Journey and how heroes have shaped our society- from the Anglo-Saxon time period to current times.

Students will write their college application essay and argue as to what defines an educated person. Throughout this unit, students will participate in whole class activities, collaborative small group performance tasks, independent practice, and conferencing experiences to develop and demonstrate critical thinking, creativity, and mastery of grade level skills and standards. Students will also begin the process of literary analysis: creating a thesis, finding quotes to support their main ideas, and formatting proper citations.

Independent reading will be an integral component of the course to allow students to build reading stamina, practice grade level skills and strategies, and develop interest and enthusiasm for reading.

Unit Duration: One Semester (approximately 20 weeks)

Desired Results

Standard(s): This curriculum follows the New Jersey Student Learning Standards for English Language Arts, grades 11-12.

Integration of 21st Century Skill

Indicators:

Creativity and Innovation

Use a wide range of idea creation techniques (such as brainstorming). Create new and worthwhile ideas (both incremental and radical concepts). Elaborate, refine, analyze and evaluate their own ideas in order to improve and maximize creative efforts. Develop, implement and communicate new ideas to others effectively. Be open and responsive to new and diverse perspectives; incorporate group input and feedback into their work. Demonstrate originality and inventiveness in work and understand the real-world limits to adopting new ideas. View failure as an opportunity to learn; understand that creativity and innovation is a long-term, cyclical process of small successes and frequent mistakes.

Social and Cross-Cultural Skills

The mission of the Washington Township Public Schools is to provide a safe, positive, and progressive educational environment that provides opportunity for all students to attain the knowledge and skills specified in the NJ Learning Standards at all grade levels, so as to ensure their full participation in an ever-changing world as responsible, self-directed and civic-minded citizens.

Know when it is appropriate to listen and when to speak. Conduct themselves in a respectable, professional manner. Respect cultural differences and work effectively with people from a range of social and cultural backgrounds. Respond open-mindedly to different ideas and values. Leverage social and cultural differences to create new ideas and increase both innovation and quality of work.

Productivity and Accountability

Set and meet goals, even in the face of obstacles and competing pressures. Prioritize, plan and manage work to achieve the intended result. Demonstrate additional attributes associated with producing high quality products including the abilities to: work positively and ethically. Manage time and projects effectively.

Multi-task.

Participate actively, as well as be reliable and punctual. Present oneself professionally and with proper etiquette. Collaborate and cooperate effectively with teams. Respect and appreciate team diversity. Be accountable for results.

Unit Title: Ethics, Morality, Growth and Perspective

Mode of Writing: Research based argumentation, Memoir writing

Unit Description:

We are all faced with ethical questions throughout our life. What role do free-will and fate play in our lives? Is mankind inherently good or bad? Does power corrupt? Are monsters created by society or are they within us? Students will examine, analyze, evaluate, demonstrate understanding of, and reflect on core texts, poems, and excerpts to think deeply about ethics and morality.

In this unit, students will examine a variety of texts that deal with the nature of man. They will examine societies in which dictators rule and dystopian characteristics are the norm. Students will go through the research paper writing process to create a simulated research task that will prepare them for college writing expectations.

Throughout this unit, students will participate in whole class activities, collaborative small group performance tasks, independent practice, and conferencing experiences to develop and demonstrate critical thinking, creativity, and mastery of grade level skills and standards.

Independent reading will be an integral component of the course to allow students to build reading stamina, practice grade level skills and strategies, and develop interest and enthusiasm for reading.

Graduation is a monumental steppingstone. Students are forced to begin looking ahead; inevitably, they will also look behind at their time at Washington Township. What and who has shaped your four years of high school? How different are you now as compared to your freshman year? How have you grown? Students will examine texts in which the protagonist learns from their journey.

Students will explore memoir writing. They will examine, analyze, evaluate, demonstrate understanding of, and reflect on core texts, poems, and excerpts and study character and individual growth.

Throughout this unit, students will participate in whole class activities, collaborative small group performance tasks, independent practice, and conferencing experiences to develop and demonstrate critical thinking, creativity, and mastery of grade level skills and standards.

Independent reading will continue to be emphasized in this unit as students prepare for post-secondary success and reflect on the importance of leading literate lives.

Unit Duration: 1 Semester (approximately 20 weeks)

- Students will cite strong and thorough textual evidence and make relevant connections.
- Students will support analysis of what the text says.
- Students will draw inferences from the text, including determining where the text leaves matters uncertain.
- Students will determine two or more themes or central ideas of a text.
- Students will analyze the development of themes over the course of the text, including how they interact and build on one another to produce a complex account.
- Students will provide an objective summary of the text.
- Students will analyze the impact of the author's choices regarding how to develop and relate elements of a story or drama (e.g., where a story is set, how the action is ordered, how the characters are introduced and developed).
- Students will determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in the text, including figurative and connotative meaning.
- Students will analyze the impact of specific word choices on meaning and tone, including words with multiple meanings or language that is particularly fresh, engaging, or beautiful (e.g., Shakespeare as well as other authors).
- Students will analyze how an author's choices concerning how to structure specific parts of a text (e.g., the choice of where to begin or end a story, the choice to provide a comedic or tragic resolution) contribute to its overall structure and meaning as well as its aesthetic impact.
- Students will analyze a case in which grasping a point of view requires distinguishing what is directly stated in a text from what is really meant (e.g., satire, sarcasm, irony, or understatement).
- Students will analyze multiple interpretations of a story, drama, or poem (e.g., recorded or live production of a play or recorded novel or poetry), evaluating how each version interprets the source text (e.g., Shakespeare and other authors).
- Students will accurately cite strong and thorough textual evidence, (e.g., via discussion, written response, etc.), to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferentially.
- Students will determine where the text leaves matters uncertain.
- Students will determine two or more central ideas of a text, and analyze their development and how they interact to provide a complex analysis.
- Students will provide an objective summary of the text.
- Students will determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including figurative, connotative, and technical meanings; analyze how an author uses and refines the meaning of a key term or terms over the course of a text (e.g., how Madison defines faction in Federalist No. 10).
- Students will analyze and evaluate the effectiveness of the structure an author uses in his or her exposition or argument, including whether the structure makes points clear, convincing, and engaging.
- Students will determine an author's point of view or purpose in a text in which the rhetoric is particularly effective.
- Students will analyze how style and content contribute to the power, persuasiveness or beauty of the text.
- Students will integrate and evaluate multiple sources of information presented in different media or formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively) as well as in words in order to address a question or solve a problem.
- Students will write informative/explanatory texts to examine and convey complex ideas, concepts, and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content.
- Students will gather relevant information from multiple authoritative print and digital sources.
- Students will use advanced searches effectively; assess the strengths and limitations of each source in terms of the task, purpose, and audience.
- Students will integrate information into the text selectively to maintain the flow of ideas, avoiding plagiarism and overreliance on any one source and following a standard format for citation (MLA or APA Style Manuals).
- Students will develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, trying a new approach, or consulting a style manual (such as MLA or APA Style).
- Students will focus on addressing what is most significant for a specific purpose and audience.

The mission of the Washington Township Public Schools is to provide a safe, positive, and progressive educational environment that provides opportunity for all students to attain the knowledge and skills specified in the NJ Learning Standards at all grade levels, so as to ensure their full participation in an ever-changing world as responsible, self-directed and civic-minded citizens.

Students will use technology, including the Internet, to produce, share, and update individual or shared writing products in response to ongoing feedback, including new arguments or information.

Students will conduct short as well as more sustained research projects to answer a question (including a self-generated question) or solve a problem.

Students will narrow or broaden the inquiry when appropriate.

Students will synthesize multiple sources on the subject, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation.

Students will analyze and reflect on (e.g. practical knowledge, historical/cultural context, and background knowledge) documents of historical and literary significance for their themes, purposes and rhetorical features, including primary source documents relevant to U.S. and/or global history.

Students will present information, findings and supporting evidence clearly, concisely, and logically.

Students will initiate and participate effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with peers on grades 11–12 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.

Students will present information, findings and supporting evidence clearly, concisely, and logically. The content, organization, development, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.

Students will integrate multiple sources of information presented in diverse media or formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively, qualitatively, orally) evaluating the credibility and accuracy of each source.

Students will evaluate a speaker's point of view, reasoning, and use of evidence and rhetoric, assessing the stance, premises, links among ideas, word choice, points of emphasis, and tone used.

Students will demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.

Students will apply the understanding that usage is a matter of convention, can change over time, and is sometimes contested.

Students will demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.

Students will observe hyphenation conventions.

Students will spell correctly.

Students will demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings.

Understandings:

Students will understand...

...the difference between fate and free will
 ...the facets of human nature and the theme of good vs, evil
 ...the importance of word choice on the impact of the reader
 ...the purpose of an effective thesis
 ...how to effectively use sources to support your thesis

 ...the purpose and structure of memoir writing
 ...how the past can teach us and direct our path
 ...how to articulate the things we believe in
 ...how perspective plays a role in your specific journey
 ...their individual growth as a student and person throughout high school

Essential Questions:

1. What does it mean to be ethical and moral?
2. Who decides what is considered to be moral and ethical?
3. How much of an impact does society have on our morality?
4. Are humans inherently good or evil?
5. What is the importance of research in preparation for college and the workforce?
6. How does your reading identity inform your reading choices?
7. How do we think and reflect on our writing to improve upon it?

1. How has your past shaped who you are today?
 2. What do you believe in?
 3. Where are you going and how has your past prepared you?
 4. What role does reflection and memoir writing play in our life?
 5. How has your journey given you perspective?

The mission of the Washington Township Public Schools is to provide a safe, positive, and progressive educational environment that provides opportunity for all students to attain the knowledge and skills specified in the NJ Learning Standards at all grade levels, so as to ensure their full participation in an ever-changing world as responsible, self-directed and civic-minded citizens.

Assessment Evidence

Performance Tasks:

Students will produce a research-based paper that mirrors college and/or career writing experiences.

Students will produce a memoir as their capstone writing project.

End of unit assessment

Other Evidence:

Book Clubs

Summative Assessments

Formative Assessments

Supportive Assignments

Short answer analyses

Individual and collaborative participation in class discussion

Writing conferences

Independent reading conferences

Benchmark

STAR Reading will also be used as a measure of progress towards mastery of grade level standards.

Learning Plan

Learning Activities:

Independent Reading/Conferencing- Ongoing
Vocabulary/Grammar- Ongoing

The following are suggested activities in support of unit learning targets. Other activities in support of unit learning targets will be determined by individual teachers.)

Sample Learning Activities:

Macbeth- Survey of ethical questions to pique interests, Shakespeare WebQuest to gain information about the legendary author, trial for who is responsible for the death of Duncan: witches, Lady Macbeth, or Macbeth, examination of gender

The mission of the Washington Township Public Schools is to provide a safe, positive, and progressive educational environment that provides opportunity for all students to attain the knowledge and skills specified in the NJ Learning Standards at all grade levels, so as to ensure their full participation in an ever-changing world as responsible, self-directed and civic-minded citizens.

roles and stereotypes during the time period, acting out of the play and key scenes, watching key scenes and comparing to the play

Additional Texts

A Treasury of Royal Scandals: The Shocking True Stories of History's Wickedest, Weirdest, Most Wanton Kings, Queens, Tsars, Popes, and Emperors (All levels)
Frankenstein graphic novel (CP and Resource)
Macbeth graphic novel (CP and Resource)

Honors Supplemental Materials:

Frankenstein: Analyze Shelley's writing for tone and the point of view of Victor and the monster. Examine the ideals of beauty in our society and who is actually the monster in the text? Draw parallels between modern science and the book.
Jekyll and Hyde: Examine the duality of human nature and what creates monsters within us.
The Merry Spinster-Students will independently read this twist on classical fairytales and will examine the emotional clarity that each character gains through the psychological toils they face.
Sailing to Byzantium by W. B. Yeats- This poem address learning though life, especially adolescence, and reflecting on life at the end of the journey.
 Various classic ballads and sonnets that illustrate the theme of growth.

If time allows, Honors students will read more than one of the above Book Club choices.

Resource Supplemental Materials:

Teacher led analysis of I am the Messenger. Teacher will use questioning in order for students to understand how the main character, Ed, decides whether or not to do the right thing while on his journey of self-discovery. Students will also find appropriate quotes that will be able to support a thesis throughout the reading of the novel. When completed, students will have the option of writing a literary analysis paper or completing a one pager in order to demonstrate understanding of reading. Instruction should be broken into chunks in order to help students with understanding.

This I Believe: In this unit, teacher in encouraged to choose a theme to discuss. Once that theme is decided on, teacher will model how to use essay/media in order to analyze the theme. Students will then be able to use the modeled version as a guide to use when researching and discussing their own theme.

Memoir Writing: Students will use examples from thisibelieve.org as well as past student works in order to create the memoir. This is a less structured piece of narrative writing that will allow students to pass on lessons learned.
